

Alexandria Jacobs

Marketing-Communications Intern

As the marketing and communications intern at Decision Innovation Solutions, Alexandria Jacobs is responsible for implementing our social media strategy, as well as managing our DIS blog and web content to ensure timely, responsive communication with our clients.

Alexandria's passion for agriculture and the industry developed at a very young age. She grew up on a family farm in Madrid, Iowa. Alex and her family raised a variety of animals all throughout her life. They had cows, horses, chickens, rabbits, goats, dogs, cats, donkeys and just about any farm animal you can imagine. Along with raising animals her family takes great pride in farming corn and soybeans. Farming has been Alex's life since before she could walk and is still very much so a part of her life to this day.

Her love for agriculture led her to pursue a degree in the agriculture field. She is currently a senior at Northwestern Oklahoma State University and is majoring in Agriculture with a double minor in business and communications. While in Oklahoma pursuing this degree Alex is also a member of the rodeo team for Northwestern competing in barrel racing and goat tying, she is also a member of National College Athletes Honors Society, Fellowship of Christien Athletes and Aggie Club.

Alex is excited to be a part of the incredible team at DIS and is thrilled by the learning opportunities offered through this internship role.

Contact

515.577.3681

Education

Northwestern Oklahoma
State University
Agriculture and business/communication

Areas of Expertise

- Communication
- Social media management
- Consumer and media relations